The following is a story from a David Jeremiah devotion:

"Many of us remember Neil Diamond singing the song, "He Ain’t Heavy, He’s My Brother" back in the eighties, but the saying originated in 1924. The story was told of an older boy carrying his little brother on his back as he trudged down the road. Someone driving by stopped and asked if they needed a ride. The older boy responded, “He ain’t heavy, he’s my brother.” These homeless boys were trying to get to Boys Town in Omaha, Nebraska. As the story became known, the phrase was eventually adopted as the motto for Boys Town, which still assists children and families today. Unlike Cain in the Bible, this young boy willingly took responsibility for his brother. After Cain murdered his brother Abel, God asked Cain where Abel was. Cain denied knowing where Abel was and said, “Am I my brother’s keeper?” Cain’s point was this: “It’s not my job to look after Abel; he can take care of himself.” His attitude was coarse, self-centered, and deceitful. The truth is, we are responsible for our “brother”; God expects us to care for one another and bear one another’s burdens.”

By the grace of God, we belong to a wonderful family called Church. In 1 Timothy 5:1 Paul admonishes the Church to treat older men as fathers, older women as mothers, younger men as brothers, and younger women as sisters. And, Paul adds “in all purity.” Come this Sunday with the attitude of looking to encourage someone. After all they are either your father, your mother, your brother, or your sister.

Joyfully His,
Bro. Dennis
